Shine Bright with STAR Interviews!

During an interview, you should be prepared to share examples from your academic, internship, or work experience. Behavioral interview questions often require examples, as employers believe past performance predicts future success. Use the S.T.A.R. method to structure your responses:

S - Situation: Describe the situation and provide context.

T - Task: Explain the task you needed to accomplish.

A - Action: Describe the actions you took.

R - Result: Share the outcome and what you learned.

Can you share an example of a time when you successfully handled a challenging or upset customer, either in person or over the phone? What steps did you take to resolve the situation?

Situation:

_____

_____

Task:

_____

_____

Action(s):

_____

_____

Result(s):

_____

_____

Tell us about a time when you experienced a conflict with a coworker or teammate. What strategies did you use to resolve the situation?

Situation:

_____

_____

Task:

_____

_____

Action(s):

_____

_____

Result(s):

_____

_____

What's one decision you wish you had made differently, and how did that experience help you grow?

Situation:

_____

_____

Task:

_____

_____

Action(s):

_____

_____

Result(s):

_____

_____

Tell me about a situation where you saw a colleague make a mistake or break policy. What was your response?

Situation:

_____

_____

Task:

_____

_____

Action(s):

_____

_____

Result(s):

_____

_____